Dear Dr. Lederberg:

I have recently spoken to Marcus Reidenberg about the labeled procainamide and he says he is not sure that all normal channels for obtaining the compound were exhausted. In such a case we would be highly embarrassed to have you intercede on our behalf at the highest level. My recommendation is that we try again with the people we know at the research institute and then get back to you.

We appreciate your enthusiasm and support for this intriguing project.

Sincerely,

Robert G. Lahita, M.D., Ph.D.
